NATIONAL SYSTEM WILL BREAK EVEN

Practically in Same Position As At End of Last Year, Says Thornton

Prescott, Ont., Oct. 20.—The prediction that, in spite of a decrease in the present year, the National system will be closed by the National system is practically the same position as was the case a year ago, was made by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, in an address here yesterday.

Sir Henry added that the year would produce net earnings of $30,000,000 had been blasted by the depression of the business, but that the system would certainly do as well as last year.

Sir Henry again urged the appointment of a federal minister of immigration in order that the work in this connection being carried on by the railway systems and other organizations may be co-ordinated. "We have got to stop talking immigration and something if we are ever going to get anywhere," he declared.

Sir Henry characterized as "simply rot and nonsense" the argument that Labor was opposed to immigration, and said that he had been told by Miss Margaret Bonfield, M.P., who recently visited Canada, that she had found Canadian labor in general providing but hostile to immigration, though the immigrant was the right type.

A JAPANESE PRINT

There is a print upon my wall, a print from far Japan. And oh, it has a certain call. A lady with a fan sits underneath a cherry tree, in radiantly white bloom, and, in the distance, I can see a pearly mountain loom.

The lady smiles! Her little hand is slender as can be. She tells the story of a land of charm and mystery, her hair is softly, deeply black, and flowers nestle there. The obi at her slender back has quite a jaunty flare, for she holds it green. The mountain, standing far above, is stately as a queen.

I wonder what the lady thinks, beneath the cherry snow! Her garden, gay with reds and pinks, casts an enchanted glow across her face, and her lip has quite a wistful line. I wonder if her hours slip as slowly as do mine? I wonder if her slanting eyes have glanced in sorrow's face—and if her future holds surprise, or sadness, or disgrace?

Oh, it is foolish, isn't it, to give a print a heart? It's just a picture, I'll admit—why, I could tear apart the paper it is made upon. And nothing would be there! And yet I know, when I am gone, still fresh and young and fair, the pretty picture girl will wait, oh, very patiently, for romance—for some chance of fate beneath the cherry tree. I know that, silent, she will stay, for what else can she do?

A figure, brave in gold and grey, whose dreams may yet come true.

Perhaps, when I have gone to sleep, her printed, wistful face and vivid colors will keep the darkness from some place. Perhaps, when I have gone to rest, her cherry tree will bloom, by Oriental breeze caressed, in someone else's room!

OFFICIAL INTERCOURSE

"Pop, what is a diplomat?"
"A diplomat, my son, is a gentleman who can tell a lie in such a manner to another gentleman, who is also a diplomat, that the second gentleman is compelled to pretend that he really believes the first gentleman, although he knows that the first gentleman is a liar who knows that the second gentleman does not believe him."

MURDER PLOT TO KILL P. VEREGIN CAUSE OF WRECK

Head of Doukhobor Colony Had Many Enemies Among the Fanatics and Revenge is Suspected.

The dead are: Peter Veregin, Doukhobor chief, P. L. MacKie, M.L.A., Grand Forks. Miss Mary Stroleff, W. J. Armstrong, Vancouver. Nell Murray, Grand Forks. Hindu, unidentified. Harry Bishop, Nelson. Doukhobor woman, unidentified.

Nelson, B.C., October 30.—The death list in the horror disaster, when a day coach exploded on the Kettle Valley railway yesterday morning, rose to eight tonight, with the reporting by the C.P.R. of more bodies at Grand Forks, a Doukhobor young woman said to be Miss Mary Stroleff, of Nelson, who with Veregin, and an unidentified Hindu. The inquest at Grand Forks is in session on the bodies of John MacKie, M.P., and Peter Veregin, Doukhobor leader.

Identifications at Nelson reveal W. J. Armstrong, 188, Eleventh avenue east, North Vancouver, and Nell Murray, thought to be of Grand Forks, in the list. A young woman, age not identified, is also dead. Harry Bishop, of Nelson, who died in hospital here, is also in the list.

A re-check of the injured shows Joe Ching, of Fernie, at Grand Forks, sustained a skull fracture. George Mack, of Grand Forks, at Nelson, previously given as George Mackin with residence, under wounds and burns at the two hospitals number 12.

Hundreds of wires of condolence over the death of Peter Veregin had been delivered at the Doukhobor headquarters at Brilliant yesterday. Harry Bishop, Nelson, sportsman and traveller for the local branch of the Swift Canadian company, succumbed to wounds and burns at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Nelson hospital.

The body of Peter Veregin, president of the Christian community of Universal Brotherhood, the Doukhobor organization, was brought from Parron to Brilliant yesterday afternoon by a chartered special train. The body of John MacKie, M.P., for Grand Forks-Greenwood, is being taken to Grand Forks, Dr. C. O. King, attending physician, being in charge there.

High explosive carried in the coach is now the certain cause of the disaster, the gas tank, at first officially reported to the C.P.R. as the cause, being found intact, and with the trucks and metal frame, the sole residue of the coach. Some years ago the C.P.R. had difficulty with Doukhobors found to be conveying dynamite in passenger coaches in gunny-sacks, and something of this nature is now the accepted theory.

Had Many Enemies
Peter Veregin, however, had many enemies among the fanatics, who wanted him to discard modern appliances, and in some circles it is argued that a time bomb was used to get rid of him. A great hole was opened in his side by the explosion.

In an official statement by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific railway western lines, the following were listed in the mysterious explosion which resulted in the death of six passengers on train No. 11 on the Kettle Valley line early yesterday morning:

Frank Russo, Vancouver, bruised. Mrs. Frank Russo, Vancouver, slightly bruised. N. Wing, Vancouver, bruised. Mr. K. Pavetti, Pat O'Shaughnessy, Vancouver, suffering from serious shock.

P. H. Gaskill, George Mackin, address unknown, serious chest injuries and serious shock. George Zelkoff, Doukhobor, Brilliant, slightly injured about head and chest.

George Kosakoff, Doukhobor, Brilliant, cut about back and face, not seriously.

Bud Sing, Hindu, Brilliant, chest slightly bruised.

Nick Ribben, Doukhobor, Brilliant, cuts on face.

Hindu, name unknown, Brilliant, crushed about the chest. Not serious. One thousand Doukhobors, the women all wearing black or grey, vainly waited at Brilliant yesterday for the special train chartered to bring in the body of Peter Veregin. The train, due at 2 p.m., did not arrive until midnight, allowance not being made for the inquest at Grand Forks, proceeding yesterday afternoon, on the bodies of the Doukhobor leader, and John MacKie, Grand Forks-Greenwood member.

Has Some Suspicion
Winnipeg, Oct. 30.—According to a statement issued yesterday by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western lines Canadian Pacific Railway, the explosion early yesterday morning on train No. 11, the Nelson-Vancouver express, which resulted in the death of five passengers and injury to many others, was caused by some human agency.

The belief is entertained by company officials that a plot was designed against the life of Peter Veregin, leader of the Doukhobor colony in British Columbia. The official statement of the vice-president, however, concludes that according to information available, "the explosion was caused by some human agency within the car, either intentional or accidental."

WHAT BALDWIN VICTORY MEANS TO DOMINIONS

Canada Interested in Britain's Offer in Apples, Fish, Honey, Sugar

Ottawa, October 30.—A Conservative victory at early returns would indicate—will bring to the fore the question of implementing the offer by the Baldwin government at the last imperial conference. In this regard, Canada will be most interested in the offer on raw apples, canned fish, honey, tobacco and sugar. Under the offer, foreign raw apples were to be dutiable in the British market at five shillings per hundredweight, while empire apples were to enter free; canned salmon and canned lobster were to be free from the empire and dutiable at 10 shillings per hundredweight from foreign countries; the same rates were to apply to honey; on tobacco the present preference was to be increased from one-sixth to one-quarter; on sugar, a guarantee was offered that if the duty was reduced the preference would not fall with it for a period of 10 years.

The offer of the Baldwin government is contingent on approval by the British house of commons. A general election intervened, however, and the Baldwin government was defeated at the polls.

FISCAL UNITY IN GERMANY RESTORED

Paris, Oct. 20.—The economic and fiscal unity of Germany has been restored, French and Belgian financiers agreed, the preliminary reparations conference here yesterday. Exploitation of the Ruhr and Rhine and railways has been handed back to the Germans, it was announced. The conference is deciding upon a programme for arranging division of the profits of the Ruhr occupation and partition of the first reparations payments under the experts' plan. The conference was notified that all French and Belgian organizations for exploiting the occupied territories have been suppressed, and the German organizations have been re-established.

WHERE THE GREY MISTS RISE

"Where the grey mists rise
On the moorland brown and bare,
And the whir and beat of restles wings
Breaks on the quiet air;
There, the soul of lonely places
To my questioning replies,
And we meet in love's communion,
Where the grey mists rise.

"I am tired of crowded cities,
And the toilsome works of men,
With their sordid shifts of commerce
And their arts of human ken.
But there's balm for bruised spirits
'Neath the wide and wind-tossed skies,
And I seek and find heart-healing
Where the grey mists rise.

"O! wrap me in the cool clean winds
And wash me in the rain,
And draw me closer to thy breast,
Dear Mother Earth again;
I have caught the mystic meaning
Of thy secrets old and wise,
And I call new strength and gladness
Where the grey mists rise."
—Barbara Ross McIntosh, in Scottish Country Life.

IRISH

An Irishman in Mayo, being ill, wrote to his doctor: "Dear Doctor—Will you come and see me? I am destroyed with gout. And bring some good medicine with you. Yours, etc., Martin Flanagan." The doctor arrived with the required medicine, and asked the usual questions. He said, "You wrote to me and said you had the gout and told me to bring you good medicine. It's not gout you have at all; it's rheumatism." "Ah, doctor, dear faith an I know that as well as you do yourself an I would hear said so in me letter, but sure there was not wan in the house that could spell it!"

CANADA'S RIVAL IN WHEAT EXPORT

Those who know the facts as to the import of wheat into Great Britain before the war will remember that half of the British bread supply came from Russia and that that country was the greatest single source of supply to Great Britain. That being so, the cessation of export of wheat from Russia since the Bolshevik revolution has created a much larger demand for wheat from other exporting countries, and of these Canada is naturally the one in the best position to supply the deficiency created by the Russian failure. It has, however, been generally believed that the cessation of export from Russia was merely a temporary one, and that as soon as the madness of the Bolshevik rule is got rid of, Russia will again export wheat to Great Britain, and, as a result, the demand for Canada's wheat will be less. It is, therefore, of no little importance to Canadian wheat growers that there has recently been published in Great Britain a statement as to the food situation in Russia, which shows that in point of fact the amount of wheat grown in Russia even under normal conditions did not allow of any large volume of export, except by the semi-starvation of the Russian peasants. If these peasants were to consume the amount of food which is considered to be really necessary for adequate nutrition, there would be no surplus available for export. Only the more or less arbitrary political organization existing in pre-war Russia under the czars allowed of the building up of such a trade, which brought to Russia a large quantity of manufactured goods from Great Britain, but left no margin of food in reserve in the country to save the peasants from starvation in the event of a failure of their harvest in any particular year. It seems that Russia is in fact so much over populated that it cannot be regarded as a genuinely food exporting country. Canada, on the contrary, has a larger margin of foodstuffs available for export than any other country of considerable size in the world. Even if the Bolshevik Government falls and is replaced by another and more rational one, it is unlikely that the Russian peasants, who have now acquired control of their land to a far greater extent than in the days of the Czars, will ever allow themselves to be made the victims of an artificial economic policy exposing them to constant risk of famine. If this fact is taken along with the other fact that countries like the United States, which formerly exported foodstuffs on a very large scale, have now a greatly reduced surplus available for such export, and are likely to become, before very long, importing rather than exporting countries, it becomes clear that a great future lies before Canada as the granary of the Empire. The Canadian wheat trade seems certain to bulk more and more largely in the economics of the world. That being so, it is obvious that it is more or less impossible to exaggerate the importance of getting the wheat trade organized on a sound basis from the point of view of both producers and consumers. The wheat pools are one step, and a highly important step, in that direction. Australia has just shown her appreciation of this point by passing legislation bringing a compulsory wheat pool into existence. The voluntary form of our pools is probably a better one, since arrangements of such a kind are likely to work with less friction if they are the result of independent agreement rather than of compulsory legislation. More than ever, therefore, the people of Western Canada and the farmers in particular should watch the operation of the wheat pool, and try to ensure that it and other co-operative ventures should be successful.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION IN THE STATES

In a very short time now the people of the United States will have to decide who is to be their President for the next four years. The contest on this occasion is unusually interesting, and the result is unusually doubtful. At first it seemed as if the Republicans were likely to have an easy victory. They were solid in their selection of Mr. Coolidge, the present President, as their candidate, whereas the Democrats took an unexpected turn in the last few days and selected Mr. Davis only as a compromise candidate after bitter struggles between Mr. Smith and Mr. McAdoo. Since the convention of the two great parties, however, the situation has somewhat changed its aspect. Mr. Davis, the Democratic candidate, is proving himself a first rate man, as those who knew him said he would do. He is a much more attractive personality than Mr. Coolidge, a first rate speaker, and the bearer of a high reputation both as to ability and character.

Further, the situation is complicated greatly by the candidature of Mr. La Follette, as a sort of Farmer-Labour Progressive candidate. He represents distinctly the radical elements in the United States, and his programme includes proposals for drastic alterations in the constitution and the economic system of the country. While it is recognized that he became perilously near to expulsion from the Senate as a pro-German traitor during the late war, it is obvious that feeling must have changed greatly to allow him become a candidate for the Presidency, not to mention the fact that he has a chance of direct election, but with strength enough behind him to make things distinctly unpleasant for the other two main candidates. It is thought that Mr. La Follette may run enough to prevent either Mr. Coolidge or Mr. Davis gaining a sufficient majority in the electoral college to allow of one or other of them being elected in the usual way, in which case the election passes into the hands of the House of Representatives, and no one exactly knows what may come from that except that there is apparently a feeling that it may make possible the election as President of Mr. Bryan, now only the Democratic candidate.

It does not appear that the victory of either Mr. Coolidge or Mr. Davis would greatly affect the foreign policy of the United States. Mr. Davis's somewhat radical membership of the League of Nations, but Mr. Coolidge with his policy of international conferences seems not very far behind his chief rival in his interest in the League of Nations. The election of Mr. La Follette on the other hand might force us in Canada to pay unusual attention to domestic happenings in the States, for anything in the nature of a social upheaval there would be apt to have an echo of some sort over here, even if it were only a very faint one. The danger of anything approaching Bolshevism has been diminished since the days immediately after the war, but at the same time there is enough perilous stuff in the way of extreme agitation scattered about the States to create at least enough disturbance in the business world there to affect seriously conditions here for the worse.

On the whole the odds at the present moment look slightly in favour of Mr. Coolidge being re-elected. We have not long to wait to see how it actually turns out.

THE UNSEEN DIVIDENDS

People who have been following the movement to secure the building of an up-to-date rink in Red Deer will have noticed that some time ago Mr. Botterill, in supporting the proposal, spoke of "the unseen dividends" of health and happiness which were likely to result from such a scheme if carried through. That is a point of view which might well be applied with advantage to many other things in Red Deer and Canada than the building of a skating rink. Recognition of the value of such unseen dividends is the direct reverse of that somewhat sordid concentration on material benefits expressed in dollars and cents, which has come to be attributed, justly or unjustly, to the English speaking people of North America. Indifference to old loyalties, old ideals, old enthusiasms, unless they could be expressed in terms of money, has been far too common amongst us. "Will it pay?" "What shall we get out of it?" "What is there in it for us?"—have been the questions asked too often in preference to "Will it make the world better or happier?" or "Is it the right thing to do?"

The war gave a shock to the materialistic school of thought, for on the whole the Canadian participation in the war was inspired by motives which had little or nothing to do with self-seeking or gain. It was in the nature of a crusade for freedom and honour, though the men who took part in it would not have said so openly, and probably hardly felt it consciously to be so. For that reason alone the price paid by Canada for the war was worth paying. It created or woke to life the soul of a nation.

In other spheres than war the same spirit can be applied with advantage. It can be brought into business to kill the money-profit motive, which has at times been all too prominent among us, especially in the days of booms of various kinds. It can inspire the faithful and thorough doing of one's work for no other reason than that work well done earns for a man or woman at least his or her own self-respect. It can put an end to shady tactics in games and competitions of any kind. It is in fact the taking of the long and the high view of life instead of the short and the low one. It is difficult not to realize that this is an age of weakening faith in many of the old beliefs which guided men and women on their way through life. Some of those beliefs may have been crude and narrow enough, bringing little of brightness and pleasure into the lives of those who held or were affected by them. Yet they did carry with them a sense of responsibility, a willingness to listen to the call of duty. Even so a belief in the essential value of the unseen dividends may enrich the lives of a community or a nation in a manner far different from but far better than the grasping after the merely material gains. It is well that that fact should be brought to the notice of our citizens. It is to be hoped that they will realize its wisdom.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The W.C.T.U. quote a local that appeared in The News a few weeks ago, and make it appear that we were wrong in our support of prohibition. We do not see the force of their statement. The reason many bootleggers were caught and punished is because the people are in sympathy with the act. The police tried just as hard under the Liquor Act, but had not the same assistance from the public.

The transferable vote might as well be discarded again, if labor or other groups vote without expressing any second choice, as was done by Labor in the bye-election in Edmonton.

A.P.P. CASES

John Krieger and John Dunlap, two bouncers in arms, blew into town Wednesday and had an interesting session in Lee Hong Fung's restaurant, opposite the Windsor, resulting in Dunlap going down the cellar steps in a helpless condition. After the proprietor had got a blow on the mouth, he sent for the police and Chief Streetfield marched off with Krieger, and later Const. Holt, A.P.P., took charge of Dunlap, who came along quite peacefully to the police station. As he could not obtain entrance, Const. Holt took his prisoner temporarily upstairs in the fire hall, where Dunlap came to life and bombarded the Constable with billiard balls, giving him a nasty smash over the head with a ball in his hand before he was overpowered, the Constable dashing him half a dozen times so as to get to the phone for aid. The bookcase and the piano were damaged by the balls. Before Mr. H. P. Lawrence, police magistrate, Krieger was given $20 and costs and six weeks in jail for being drunk, and Dunlap the same fine for being drunk, and six months in jail at hard labor for assaulting a peace officer, and a $200 fine for being drunk, and six months in jail. It was deemed wise to send Constable Holt to hospital after the trial.

A case of assault brought by Jack Ball against E. Matthias, Blackfeet, was dismissed with costs, the evidence showing, in Mr. Lawrence's opinion, that Mr. Matthias was protecting his dog and that there had been no actual assault.

At Chief Streetfield's instance, two vagrants got thirty days at the Fort, and two drunks were fined $20 each. All were put down.

DELORME IS FREE; PRIEST ACQUITTED ON HIS THIRD TRIAL

For Nearly Three Years Delorme in Hands of Police Charged With Murder of Brother

Montreal, November 1.—Rev. L. Adelard Delorme, Roman Catholic priest, who for nearly three years has been in the hands of the police, and who in that time has gone through three trials on the charge of murder of his half brother Raoul, on the night of January 6, 1922, was acquitted yesterday afternoon after the jury had deliberated for over four hours. At 4:45 p.m. the jury returned their verdict of "Not guilty."

For a few moments there was some noise in the court, then Alphonse Germain, counsel for the defence, moved that the prisoner be liberated.

"There is nothing further against this man, your worship," announced R. L. Calder, crown prosecutor.

"Then let the prisoner be freed," declared Mr. Justice Tessier. Turning to the jury, his lordship said:

"Gentlemen, you are liberated."

Father Delorme was immediately freed, and left the building with M. Gendron, one of the defence counsel, by a door which had not been opened for half a century. In this way the liberated priest escaped the thousands who were waiting outside the court room.

End of the Third Trial

This was the termination of the third trial in one of the most arresting cases in the annals of Montreal. Disagreement of the jury in the first two necessitated the third trial, which has resulted in Delorme's acquittal. Additional to these, Father Delorme, in June, 1922, was found insane by a special jury at the court of King's bench and placed in Beauport asylum. Several months later he was discharged from the asylum on a certificate of the superintendent that he was sane and his first trial was begun on June 20, 1923.

A second trial was necessary by disagreement by the jury, and this was begun Feb. 25, 1924. The result of the second trial was the same, as of that of the preceding one, and Delorme was called upon to submit to a third, which opened October 2, before Mr. Justice Tessier. Until the last two days there was little public interest in the third trial. Yesterday, the address of R. L. Calder, K. C., crown prosecutor, and the charge of Justice Tessier to the jury occupied the morning session, following which the jury retired to consider their verdict.

THE TROUBLE

The man had been considerably delayed by a prolonged business engagement and when he arrived at the concert hall the doorkeeper resolutely refused to open the door for him to enter.

"The concert has already begun, sir," explained the doorkeeper. "The singer is now giving her second song. I cannot let you in."

"But I'll sit quietly," said the man. "I won't make a sound."

"It isn't that, sir," commented the doorkeeper. "The trouble is that if the audience sees the door open they might all rush out."

SCORED ON THE LAWYER

A young doctor was summoned as a witness in a case that depended on technical evidence. The opposing counsel was inclined to be sarcastic at the idea of so young a doctor being called.

"You are familiar," he said, "with the symptoms of concussion of the brain?"

"Yes," said the doctor.

"Then if Mr. Smith and myself collided, and banged our heads together, should we get concussion of the brain?"

"Mr. Smith might," said the doctor.

AN OVERSIGHT

Lady (visiting prison)—And how did you come to be put in here, my good man?

"I'm unlucky," declared the imprisoned wood alcohol vendor, who was in a confidential mood. "One of my customers didn't go blind, and he identified me."

Wm. Howarth died at his home in Dalmore at the age of 62.

TEN YEARS AGO

From The News, Nov. 4, 1914.

The war was three months old. The Turkish ambassador was given his passports as Turkey had joined forces with Germany. The cruiser Hernes was sunk by a German U boat. The German attacks on France were lessening in violence. British and Japanese war ships were bombarding the forts at Tsing Tau, and most of the German forts were abandoned. The Germans lost 5000 men in an effort to cross the Yser. Nearly 7000,000 Belgians were threatened with famine.

M. W. Bro. Judge J. A. Jackson, Masonic Grand Master and other Grand Lodge officers conducted impressive dedication ceremonies in Red Deer.

The Brigade were called out to four fires in less than twenty-four hours.

The Calgary Brewery Co. ordered the Alberta Hotel in Red Deer closed.

Bob Jones had a nasty accident on the C. P. R. when he was hit by a moving box car. Only a quick jump saved him from more serious injury.

W.C.T.U. NOTES

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Smith, on Friday, October 31st, the President in the chair. After the usual exercises and the reading of the minutes the meeting was dispensed with, a splendid report of the Provincial W.C.T.U. Convention was given by the delegates, Mrs. Churchill and Mrs. Seabrook. "Although we may be inclined to feel discouraged at the temperance outlook in the Western provinces, we must remember that the great world movement is towards prohibition. During the past year four countries, U.S.A., Denmark, Norway and Iceland have got total prohibition laws."

The curfew by-law came up for discussion at this meeting, and the members of the Union expressed their pleasure that the City Council has decided to stand behind the Chief of Police in rigidly enforcing the by-law. It will be remembered that about 15 years ago the curfew by-law was put in the statute books of our city through the efforts of the W. C. T. U., and as such was rigidly enforced. About four or five years ago, following a petition from a number of 'teen age girls, the Council decided to do away with the enforcement of the law, regardless of the fact that they were advised against this step by the recruited Police and by a delegation from the W.C.T.U., who waited on the Council at that time. At the suggestion of one of the Aldermen and as a concession to the W.C.T.U., the ringing of the bell was continued, so that children, instructed to be home at that hour could act accordingly. Had the ringing of the curfew remained a recognized law of our city, enforced as in previous years, the "serious trouble" referred to in recent Council notes might never have been recorded.

Miss Mary Robertson and Miss Zelma Moxey contributed very acceptably to the musical part of the program, after which the hostess kindly served refreshments.

We quote from a local in an August number of the Red Deer News: "Detective Holmes of the A.P.P. is getting in some good work grabbing the bootleggers these days. Fines recently have averaged about $100 a day."

P. Ranch and W. C. Short will exhibit Shorthorns; Frank Collier, Crossford, the B. B. of Daysland, will exhibit Herefords; S. Henderson and the Lacombe Experimentals will exhibit Aberdeen Angus; Davenport, of Acme, the Bar U and E. P. Ranch will send Percherons; the Lacombe Experimentals Farm will send Shires and a Clyde filly; Weaver Bros., Lloydminster, will send Clydes and W. Urquhart, of Crossfield, will send a Belgian mare.

Fort Vermilion Maintains Good Record

Thrashing returns from nine farmers in the vicinity of Fort Vermilion on the Peace River, 400 miles north of Edmonton, recorded at the Department of Agriculture, show an average yield of wheat for the past season among these nine farms of 20 bushels an acre. Wheat has been grown at this far northern Alberta point for 20 years.

Thrashing Machines Registered

A total of eight thrashing rigs have now been registered with the Department of Agriculture to date, in comparison with 4700 at the same date of 1923. Owners of operators who have not yet registered for the present season are urged to do so at once. The registration fee is $1.00.

First Party of Boys Arrive

The first party of young bootleggers to come to Alberta under the new plan of the Alberta Government and the British Overseas Settlement Board, whereby training in practical agriculture will be given at one of the schools of agriculture, arrived at Vermilion, Alberta, the past week, to commence their training. The young men are of the finest type possible to select from the many applications received, and they average in age about 22 years. They will receive their practical training at the school of agriculture at Vermilion, which is 150 miles east of Edmonton on the Canadian National Railway. The instructor in charge will be W. J. Elliott. Another party is expected to arrive before Christmas.

Fall Stock Show

The fall show and sale of livestock will be held in Calgary the coming week, when the annual meeting of the various livestock associations of the South will be held also. These include the Alberta Horse Breeders' Association, the Alberta Sheep Breeders' Association, the Alberta Hereford Breeders, and the Alberta Sheep Breeders.

Calf Clubs in South

Boys and girls of the Lethbridge and District Calf Feeding Club will put 25 calves on special feeding starting November 15, following inspection of the calves. This Club has made considerable progress.

Alberta Bee Keepers

Alberta now has more than 120 bee keepers according to lists which have been obtained by the Department of Agriculture. Compilation of statistics as to the amount of honey produced is now proceeding.

Generous Gifts

The immense value offered by The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season is meeting with the success the publishers deserve. Their large calendar for 1925 with the beautiful picture "The Sale of Old Dobbin" is proving a very popular premium, while the Ten Thousand Dollar Election Contest is a record breaker. For those who raise clubs of new subscribers, there is a catalogue of some very handsome and useful rewards. The Family Herald is securing thousands upon thousands of new subscribers by their generous gifts, added to the supreme excellence of the paper itself; in fact few homes will be found without that great weekly "New Two Dollars will secure so much."

Mediterranean Was Once Whole World

history's pages. "Have you looped the loop around the Mediterranean?" is a phrase much in vogue, and each year thousands of wanderlust folk are able to say "Yes!" and wish that they were going to loop the same old loop again.

The "Empress of Scotland," if a big steamship of 25,000 tons gross register and 37,500 tons displacement, could be interviewed, would say that she was departing on her fourth annual cruise of the Mediterranean from New York on Feb. 1, 1925, and that although she could find her way around in the dark she would much prefer daylight so that she would not miss any of the wonderful scenery of the Mediterranean. Passengers on the "Empress" will see Madeira, then drop in to pay a call upon Lisbon, Portugal, as well as another call upon Cadiz, Spain, with Seville as a side trip. Gibraltar, the famous "Rock" next gets the once over, then Algiers, capital of the French colony of Algeria is visited. Athens, Greece, Constantinople and the Bosphorus are next, and when the ship visits Beyrout and Haifa all the famous places of the Holy Land are within a short distance of the vessel. "The storied Nile" awaits the "Empress" and 12 days are spent in seeing the cities of Alexandria and Cairo, the Pyramids, the Sphinx, etc.; then Naples, Pompeii, Rome, Monaco, Cherbourg, Southampton and other places. One can see a lot in 63 days in and about this cradle of civilization, and that's the job of the big all-burning "Empress of Scotland," the largest vessel in the whole Canadian Pacific fleet.

Chinese War Spoils Royal and Ancient Game

This Shanghai News Bulletin Shows How Additional Hazards Were Created

In the opinion of Canadian Pacific officials stationed in China, the cessation of hostilities will, with probability, be followed by a remarkable development of Canada's trade with the Orient. From letters received at the Montreal headquarters of the great transportation company, Canadians, Europeans and other foreigners did not take the Chinese war quite as seriously as did the Chinese themselves. Business was affected a little as how General Kai, finding no time in which to escape from the Chokiang troops after the defeat of the Su military at Low Hoo, was forced to jump into the river, where he was finally rescued. Below that, he who used that recruiting workmen for station work and the transportation of munitions at Jarbak was comparatively easy as many who volunteered for this work were fearful of being forcibly recruited for service in front if they were found to be without employment. Underneath the portraits of the contending generals, the artist has endeavored to show the Chokiang troops of the Su army fired on the Chokiang troops, by entrenching themselves round Low Hoo and by remaining quiet, tried the Su army into thinking that the town had been evacuated, being thereby enabled to vanquish General Kai, who sought to occupy it.

But the war is about over now, and on this side of the Pacific we are just left to ask, "What did it all mean?" The Canadian Pacific has included Shanghai in the itinerary of the "Empress of France" round the world cruise which is to commence at New York on January 14th, 1925, and to the participants in this cruise the late Chinese war may mean a few battlefields to visit or a few more souvenirs to buy, but that is about all. Amid all the charm and beauty, mystery and intrigue of the Orient, the thing like a war is soon forgotten by the average visitor to the country at least.

Cash and Carry Plan Big Success

Our Cash and Carry Plan went over Saturday very satisfactorily to us, and the people who took advantage of it will readily see the great saving it means to them. It really means to order or purchase one day ahead of time, then you will always have your meat on hand.

We have secured a good assortment of Turkeys, Geese and Chicken for next Saturday, as Thanksgiving comes on Monday, and as we realize these will be awkward to carry we are arranging a Special Delivery (one only) Saturday evening to take care of Poultry purchased at our store.

NEXT SATURDAY SPECIAL

As our Lard Special did not hold out last Saturday, we are going to put on 24 (only) 5lb. Pails of Lard at $1.00 each to take care of those who were disappointed in not getting in on these.
